three rocket launchers in the Alte Crenadier Kaserne. As, in April 1953, each one rocket launcher was seen with the mortar regiments in Brandenburg, Weimar, and Wurzen during the loadings for the troop training grounds, and regarding the observations in Neustrelitz, it is not impossible that the mortar regiments of the tank and mechanized divisions have recently been equipped with individual rocket launchers. Although this measure cannot definitely be accounted for, there is the possibility that the guns had to provide rapid fire on major target areas within the frame work of the mortur battalions.
